TRANS-i TAKES HOME THE GOLD – THE COVETED UPC AWARD

Lima, PERU – Trans-i Technologies, Inc. wins the coveted UPC Entrepreneurial Creativity Award. This award is presented annually by the Peruvian University of Applied Sciences - the most prestigious educational group in Peru. Each year this group analyzes the top business performers. These organizations must meet rigorous requirements and must have contributed to the development of an industry in an exceptional way. Trans-i is recognized for its excellence in software solutions provided to the transportation industry. Namely, Inchcape Shipping Services – the world's largest marine services group, Maersk Tanker, and Exxon. Trans-i was the only IT company recognized with this award.

"To receive the UPC Award is really like winning the gold at the Olympics. It sets a benchmark, both for the organization and the technology industry," comments Dante Rebagliati, Trans Solutions Managing Director. "It is truly a great honor and I want to thank the UPC judges, our clients who continue to believe in our products and services and especially our excellent staff of dedicated employees who made this possible."
