TRANS-i ADDS DASHBOARD FEATURES TO TRANS INTELLIGENCE

Fort Lauderdale, FLORIDA - The addition of dashboard technology to Trans-i's Trans Intelligence significantly enhances user's ability to monitor business-critical information rather than search for it. This robust feature intelligently gathers and displays data, providing business intelligence without interrupting work flow. It replaces old hunt-and-peck data-gathering techniques with a tireless, adaptable, information-flow mechanism. Users are able to set Key Performance Indicators (KPIs), customize executive level reporting, as well as sales and other department reporting requirements. With a simple mouse click, up to the minute relevant information is available – increasing the ability respond quickly and effectively to market demands.

Trans Intelligence is an integrated Business Intelligence System providing the transportation industry with a highly interactive environment that supports the latest generation of management reporting and analysis. This powerful tool's mission is to facilitate the task of decision-making and the definition of business strategies at all levels of the organization.

100% browser based with powerful state-of-the-art data architecture, Trans Intelligence integrates information from key sources and summarizes, analyzes and reports it using client-defined best practices. Trans-i's business intelligence solution will significantly improve user's net yields, ROI and profitability while reducing costs through more responsive and effective management.
